The changes made in the textbooks for schools by the state faxtbooks for schools by the state faxtbook commission will affect 22.378 school children in Tuisa county. Mrs.
Minette Hedges, superintendent of the Tuisa county school, said yesterday. The changes in most cases were for the better, according to Mrs. Hedges and should be satisfactory to both the teachers and pupils Approximately 65 per cent of the changed, while 50 per cent of the texts used in high school were changed.

Although the number has been regarded as large by many people it is considerably less than the last

The new change was due to some or tent to the addition of several new courses of study to the school curricula.
